

President's Wife Has Close Escape At Swampscott

Massachusetts Constabulary, Mounted on Motorcycles, Almost Run Her Down on White Court Grounds—President at Cambridge Celebrating Commemorative Washington Taking Army Command.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Swampscott, Mass., July 2.—By the narrowest margin, Mrs. Coolidge, returning from her daily walk this morning, escaped an accident which undoubtedly would have resulted in serious injury.

Accompanied by her secret service guard, James Haley, Mrs. Coolidge had just turned into the private roadway leading up to White Court when four members of the Massachusetts state constabulary, mounted on motorcycles, tore around the bend in the road at a high rate of speed.

Haley shouted a warning to Mrs. Coolidge and both jumped; one to each side of the road. The four motorcycles swerved in and passed between the two, missing each only by a hair's breadth.

The motor officers, who will convey the presidential party to Cambridge this afternoon, did not slacken their speed but continued on to the front door of White Court.

President at Celebration.
Rolling back the pages of history, President Coolidge today led some 200,000 citizens of Massachusetts in commemorating the anniversary of the date upon which the immortal George Washington assumed command of the Continental Army.

It was just 150 years ago today that this epochal event took place on the town common of Cambridge.

This afternoon, President and Mrs. Coolidge will motor to Cambridge to take the principal part in an elaborate program of celebration.

As the outstanding event of the day, the president is scheduled to deliver an eulogistic address this afternoon. It will be the first public appearance he has made since coming to Massachusetts for his summer vacation.

Mr. Coolidge's address will be delivered from the spot where Washington stood in receiving his command.

Until recently the famous Washington elm, towered over this spot.

Thousands At Cambridge.
Cambridge, Mass., July 3.—Fair skies, a bright sun, with the air tempered by a breeze from the west, greeted the thousands gathering here today to cheer President and Mrs. Coolidge and to take part in the commemoration of the 150th anniversary of George Washington's taking command of the Continental Army.

The university city, gay with bunting and flags, was entertaining 100,000 visitors.

The order of events for the celebration, all on daylight saving time, follows:

The Day's Program.
10:30 a. m. Patriotic airs on the chimneys of Christ Church.

11 a. m. Bishop Lawrence preaches for 15 minutes at Christ Church, using prayers for the president taken from prayer books of Washington's time.

11:30 a. m. to noon. Chimes playing at Christ Church.

1:30 p. m. President and Mrs. Coolidge arrive, greeted by salute of 21 guns.

2 to 2:30 p. m. Parade forms on Memorial Drive opposite Technology.

3:30 p. m. Pageant and historical features on Cambridge Common, reviewed by president. Historical episode representing Washington taking command of the American Army.

4:20 p. m. Singing by Cambridge school children.

4:30 p. m. President's address; will be broadcast by radio stations WEEL, WNAC and WBZ.

5 p. m. Dinner by city of Cambridge to its guests in Memorial Hall, Harvard University.

The pageant and president's address follow the parade and will be covered by the time the parade takes in passing over its route.

INTemperance AND CRUELTY ARE CHARGED

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, July 3.—Intemperance and cruelty are charged by Mrs. Philander Chase Knox, Jr., in a suit for maintenance filed here against her husband, son of the late Senator Knox of Pennsylvania. Mrs. Knox has left Washington and is at the home of her parents in Charlottesville, West Virginia.

Knox divorced his first wife in Reno in 1916.

The arrest of the couple was made quietly by the police and followed the arrival here of Mrs. Tobias. The wife told the police she had waited for her husband and the girl for several weeks.

Tobias had credentials from the New York city detective bureau and letters and newspaper clippings indicating that he had been in demand as a speaker before industrial and civic organizations.

Until the federal officials completed their investigations Tobias and the girl were held at police headquarters.

Point Casino Dance.
There will be dancing at the Kingston Point Casino Fourth of July afternoon from 1 until 5 o'clock and to the evening from 8 to 12.

Flag Etiquette to Be Observed on Independence Day

American Legion Urges Display of Respect of Stars and Stripes on the Part of Citizens by Salute and Proper Display.

On the occasion of the last National Defense Test Day, which will be repeated on July 4, few persons in Kingston outside school boys and girls, saluted the Stars and Stripes as the American flag passed in parade. Grown-ups stood on the sidewalks and watched the flag go past with no outward sign of respect.

This year all citizens of our city are urged to do their full patriotic duty by saluting the flag when it passes in parade. The following rules for saluting the flag are quoted from the official Flag Code:

Salute to the Flag.

During the ceremony of hoisting or lowering the flag or when the flag is passing in a parade or in a review, all persons present should face the flag, stand at attention and salute.

Those present in uniform should render the right-hand salute. When not in uniform, men should remove the headress with the right hand and hold it at the left shoulder. Women should salute by placing the right hand over the heart.

The salute to the flag in the moving column is rendered at the moment the flag passes.

When the National Anthem is played, those present in uniform should salute at the first note of the anthem, retaining this position until the last note of the anthem. When not in uniform, men should remove the headress and hold it as in the salute to the flag. Women should render the salute as to the flag. When there is no flag displayed, all should face toward the music.

Rules for Displaying Flag.

1. May be displayed from sunrise to sunset.

2. Fly from staff where possible. If not on staff, the flag should be displayed flat against wall or from top of porch. Do not tie strings on flag or make fastenings of it. Display it flat.

3. When displayed flat, the union or blue field should be at your left when you stand in front of your house and face the flag.

4. Under no conditions allow the flag to touch the ground or water.

On Flag Day, there were few flags in the city improperly displayed. This was a decided improvement over Memorial Day, when about half of them were wrong. Much credit for this is doubtless due to the school children who took part in the Flag Code contest. The American Legion invites and urges the cooperation of all citizens in Kingston in this work. A survey will be made of the city tomorrow to determine the percentage of flags improperly displayed and it is hoped that none will be so found.

A copy of the Flag Code will be sent on request.

AMERICANISM COMMITTEE.
KINGSTON POST, No. 150.
AMERICAN LEGION.

THE AMERICAN CREED.
Wm. Tyler Page.

I believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, for the people; whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic; a sovereign nation of many sovereign states; a perfect union, one and inseparable; established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice, and humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes.

I therefore believe it is my duty to my country to love it; to support its constitution; to obey its laws; to respect its flag; and to defend it against all enemies.

Respect the Flag.

When you see the Stars and Stripes displayed, stand up and take off your hat. Somebody may titter. It is in the blood of some to deride the expression of noble sentiment. You may blaspheme in the street the staggered drunk in public places, and the bystanders need not pay much attention to you; but if you should get down on your knees and pray to Almighty God or if you should stand bareheaded while a company of old soldiers marches by with flags to the breeze, some people will think you are showing off.

But don't mind. When Old Glory comes along, salute and let them think what they please! When you hear the band play "The Star Spangled Banner" while you are in a restaurant or hotel dining room, get up even if you rise alone; stand and don't be ashamed of it, either.

For all the signs and symbols since the world began there is none other so full of meaning as the flag of this country. That piece of red, white and blue bunting means five thousand years of struggle upward. It is the full-crown flower of ages of fighting for liberty. It is the century plant of human hope in bloom.

Your flag stands for humanity, for an equal opportunity to all the sons of men. Of course we haven't arrived yet at that goal; there are many injustices and cruel customs of the past still clinging to us, but the only hope of righting the wrongs of men lies in the feeling produced in our bosoms by the sight of that flag.

Other flags mean a glorious past, this flag a glorious future. It is not so much the flag of our fathers as it

Activities Here On the Fourth

Plenty of Interesting Things to Keep Kingstonians and Visitors Busy From Early Morning Until Late at Night.

Kingston will offer an unusually interesting program of activities for residents and visitors on the Fourth of July.

Among them are:

A Defense Day parade at 9:30 o'clock in the morning, followed by patriotic exercises in the rear of the Kingston High School.

Two baseball games at Kingston Park grounds, one in the morning at 10:40 and the other at 3:30 in the afternoon. Both games will be with the Haverstraw team.

Municipal fireworks and band concert in the evening in the rear of the Kingston High School. The concert will be from seven to nine o'clock.

Special programs at the local theatres both afternoon and evening. Field day and outing of Clinton Avenue M. E. Church at Forsyth Park with band concert in the afternoon by the Citizens' Band.

Annual school picnic of Immanuel Lutheran School at Hasbrouck Park, to which everyone is invited.

Defense Day Parade.

The Defense Day parade will start promptly at 9:30 o'clock from Delaware avenue and Broadway and proceed up Broadway to Academy Green, then counter-march to the Kingston High School where a band concert with speaking appropriate to the occasion will take place. Batteries A and B of the First Battalion Headquarters Battery Combat Train will turn out in full force with all the guns and equipment. They will be mounted. It is expected that a number of fraternal orders and organizations of the city will participate in the parade.

No Delivery of Mail Tomorrow

Observing tomorrow's holiday, the Kingston Post Office and sub-stations will be closed all day but the lobbies will be open for the convenience of box holders. There will be no delivery in the city or on the rural routes. The usual mail collections will be made in the afternoon and beginning at 9 in the evening.

LECTURER, TRAILED BY WIFE, IS ARRESTED.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Springfield, Mass., July 3.—Trailed by his wife through several cities in the east, Maurice Tobias, 51, prominent lecturer on commercial and industrial topics, was arrested at a local hotel today in a room with a girl giving the name of Miss Bearse Pearson, 22, of No. 2037 Gebes street, Syracuse, N. Y.

Tobias, who lives in New York, and the girl registered as man and wife and both were locked up pending an investigation by federal authorities under the Mann white slave act.

OVER NIGHT AIR MAIL SERVICE SUCCESS.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New Brunswick, N. J., July 3.—Over night air mail service between New York and Chicago continued to operate smoothly today with the arrival of 226 1/2 pounds of mail at Hadley Field at 5:52 a. m.

J. D. Hill, the pilot from Cleveland, reported the trip had required about four hours' flying time with steady west winds slightly slowing up the flight.

But the same winds have aided west bound planes, which have averaged 3 1/2 hours from New York to Cleveland.

Notaries Public.

Stanley Hamilton Dempsey, 147 Albany avenue, Norton Finch, 155 Ten Broeck avenue, William Lee Morris, 75 Market street, Ellenville; Roy Griffin, 65 Market street, Ellenville; Eugene F. Therates, 11 West Bridge street, Saugerties, have been appointed notaries public by Governor Smith.

France's 1925 Budget Passed.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Paris, July 3.—The budget for 1925 providing 23,152,000,000 francs for the expenses of government, was passed by the Chamber of Deputies today after an all night session.

It is the flag of our children and of all children's children yet unborn. It is the flag of tomorrow. It is the signal of the "Good Time Coming." It is not the flag of your knee—it is the flag of yourself and of all your neighbors.

Don't be ashamed when your throat chokes and the tears come, as you see it spring from the masts of our ships on all the seas or floating from every flagstaff of the Republic. You will never have a worthier emotion. Reverence it as you would reverence the signature of the Deity.

Listen, son! The band is playing the national anthem—"The Star Spangled Banner." They have been playing Old Glory yonder. Stand up—and others will stand with you.

This tribute to the flag is offered to the country in appeal to all men and women of all races, colors and creeds, that they may come to understand that our flag is the symbol of liberty and learn to love it.

$30,000,000 Crash Of Big Brokerage House in Chicago

Trust Company Appointed Receiver of Brokers Whose Liabilities Are Alleged to Approximate $29,000,000—New York Stock Exchange Suspends Firm—Proceedings Taken Unexpectedly.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Chicago, Ill., July 3.—A $30,000,000 crash rocked the financial district here today.

Dean Onativia & Company, one of the oldest brokerage houses in Chicago's chief financial street, was placed in the hands of a receiver by Federal Judge Carpenter.

Credit banks filed the petition. The Chicago Title and Trust Company was named receiver.

Just what the extent of their receivership will be none would venture to say. But Frank Hoolihan, New York attorney expert on receivership cases, representing the creditors, asserted that $30,000,000 is involved.

Chester R. Davis, of the Chicago Title and Trust Company, was placed in charge of the company's offices, occupying an entire floor of a loop office building.

Davis barred everyone but his immediate aides from the offices, and details concerning the financial difficulties of the company were meagre.

The petition for receivership was filed in conjunction with a petition for adjudication. Although men chancing bills totalling $544,733 threw the firm into receivership, the receivership petition avers that the liabilities of the firm approximate $29,000,000.

Claim Customers Own Stocks.

"Said liabilities of $29,000,000," the petition avers, "are almost wholly stock and other securities which are in fact the property of its customers and are pledged in various banks."

The petition charged that the firm committed an act of bankruptcy on July 1 by paying to Charles J. Trotman $22,000 with intent, it is said, to give Trotman preference over other creditors.

So suddenly did the petition come that the board of governors of the board of trade were not apprised of the action until late last night after, it is understood, the creditors held a meeting and determined upon the bankruptcy proceedings.

A meeting of the governors was called at 6 a. m. and the board voted the customary five day suspension of the firm.

Suspension and Bankruptcy Petition.

New York, July 3.—Coinciding with the announcement that the New York Stock Exchange suspended the firm of Dean, Onativia and Company for failure to meet its obligations, an involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed in the United States district court against the firm by three employees.

The assets were given at $4,000,000 and liabilities $1,000,000 in excess of assets, according to the petitioning creditors.

Little Effect on Trading.

The suspension had little effect on the trading in Wall Street although it brought some liquidation for evening up accounts.

William M. Cannon of the New York Federal Court was appointed receiver for Dean, Onativia and Company under a $50,000 bond.

The New York Curb market followed the exchange soon after opening and also announced suspension of the company.

Brokers' Attorneys Explain.

Gilman and Tager, New York attorneys for Dean Onativia and Company made the following statement today:

"This situation arose from the fact that in the account of customers, Dean Onativia and Company were carrying 45,000 shares of stock of a company which was a subsidiary of the grain marketing corporation of Chicago. This stock has been quoted and carried by the banks around $30 a share.

"My information is that under the requirements of the Illinois law it was necessary for 51 per cent of the stock of the grain marketing corporation to be sold by July 1 because it was a cooperative association. It is said it will be necessary to scramble the grain marketing corporation and its subsidiaries.

"A Chicago bank called the loans of Dean Onativia and Company and it was impossible for them to meet their obligations this morning. Its assets will probably amount to $20,000,000 or $25,000,000. Liabilities cannot be much in excess of that amount. The petition in bankruptcy was filed by Irving L. Ernst representing the creditors. Former Judge William M. Cannon of San Francisco was appointed receiver and has taken possession."

Irving L. Ernst who represents creditors of the brokers in the New York bankruptcy proceedings, is well known in Kingston. He was a member of one of the early Ashokan Damage Commissions.

Soldiers to Parade.

The commandant of the First Battalion Headquarters, Headquarters Detachment and Combat Train, Battery "A" and Battery "B" 156th Field Artillery, have issued orders for their respective commands to report at the armory at 7:45 o'clock today to participate in the Defense Day exercises.

Santa Barbara Again Shaken By Earthquakes

At Least Ten Persons Injured as Renewed Disaster Visits Stricken City—Extent of Damage Not Known—Citizens Regain Composure Quickly—Fire Follows Shock.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Santa Barbara, Cal., July 3.—At least ten persons were injured and considerable property damage was done by a second earthquake which brought new terror and disaster to stricken Santa Barbara today.

The shock, coming at 5:35 o'clock, rocked every portion of the city. Whether persons living in the residential districts and outlying sections have been killed or injured is unknown.

The shock appeared to have centered near the Carrillo Hotel, and that structure and a fire station across the street were violently shaken by the shock.

The walls rocked forward and backward in huge waves but did not completely fall.

White faced men and women poured into the streets as the tremor shook the city, but a few seconds after the earth movements had stopped, comparative quiet prevailed and the work of caring for the injured was started.

Damaged Buildings Shaken Down.

A partially wrecked structure withstood the force of the new tremor and remained standing.

The walls of the Lincoln High School, which had been partially wrecked in Monday's earthquake, were shattered by the new tremor.

A fire station opposite the new Carrillo Hotel was shaken down by the new quake.

Telephone Girls Faithful.

In the office of the telephone company, located in a temporary structure, 25 girls bravely remained at their posts, not a single woman leaving the shaking switchboards.

While heavy timbers crashed in the telephone structure and plaster and bricks fell about them, the girls remained on duty and attempted to flash word of the new quake to the outside world.

Disorder Follows Shock.

A great disorder broke out immediately following the quake. Firemen and policemen rushed from their posts to the badly wrecked area in the business district.

Ambulances were dispatched to the main streets of the city, waiting to care for any who may have been injured.

Telephone lines leading south into Los Angeles were not disconnected. Several telephone girls swooned and were carried into the street, where they were quickly revived.

Quake Lasted Ten Seconds.

The violent shock today came without the slightest warning and was not preceded by slight shocks and tremors of any kind. It appeared to last for at least ten seconds.

Several persons sustained slight injuries when they ran into each other while escaping from the buildings.

Extent of Damage Varies.

Damage to the partially wrecked structures on Santa Barbara's main business avenue, State street, was largely confined to falling plaster and huge stones and bricks, first reports indicated.

Among the buildings which today's tremor damaged heavily were the First National Bank and the great Wardrobe building.

In the residential districts damage was reported as slight. Dishes were broken and windows smashed.

Men Nervous, Women Weeping.

State Street was filled with crowds of nervous men and weeping women a few minutes after the quake. They were afraid to re-enter the buildings from which they fled and too frightened to seek safety in other parts of the city. They stood fast in their tracks, unable to attempt escape.

The Daily News building, conceded to be the nearest quake proof structure in the city, was shaken so violently that the printers and other employees rushed to safety.

Red Cross headquarters reported no one was believed seriously injured.

Another Quake at 10:21.

A violent earthquake shook Santa Barbara at 10:21 o'clock this morning. Bricks and rocks fell to the ground from buildings partly demolished by previous tremors.

Night Shocks Alarm People.

The heavy shock had been preceded by a fairly heavy quake at 3:50 o'clock this morning and all during the night more shocks were felt.

At that time sleepless thousands rushing to the streets to learn the damage had been done, were drenched by a light rain which followed the shock. Rain was falling steadily shortly afterward and the streets were soon running with water and mud which swirled about new debris shaken down by the 3:50 tremor.

The shocks appeared to have ceased with the coming of the rain.

No Action on Fourth.

The street department will not remove debris on the Fourth of July but same will be taken up on Monday.

An Auto Collision.

A collision between the cars of Edwin Sanchez of 115 East Chestnut street and Winifred H. McManus of Milton at the corner of Wurtz and West Union streets was reported to the police Thursday. Both cars were somewhat damaged but no one was injured.

Dance at Yacht Club.

The Yacht Club will hold a dance for the members and their friends at the club house the evening of the Fourth of July. The music will be furnished by the Yacht Club orchestra and a large attendance is expected.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

by MARY GRAHAM BONNER

THE GNU FAMILY

"There are three of us in the row," said the Blue or Gray Gnu, sometimes called the Brindled Gnu.

"There's myself, for as I'm doing the talking, I consider I am the most important of all."

"There's myself," said the White-Bearded Gnu, the largest of the three animals, but very much like the Blue Gnu.

"And there's myself," said the White-Tailed Gnu. "I am interesting."

"I come from South Africa. I used to live on herbs and grasses—here they give me grass and clover, too. My nose isn't straight—it is what you would call an oddly shaped nose."

"My horns are peculiar and my hips aren't at all beautiful."

"My tail is like the tail of a horse except that it ends off in white."

"I have ugly hairs on my back and around my face and so, as I am thoroughly ugly and thoroughly odd—I am most interesting."

"I'm the best-looking of the three," said the White-Bearded Gnu.

None of them, however, were good-looking and their expressions were cross and mean. They looked like peculiar and very ugly horses.

"I have horns, too," said the White-Tailed Gnu, "and my great, great grandfather was just like me—or I am just like him."

"He used to get so bored with the people who stared at him. He didn't raise any objection to being in the zoo—hardly any of us do for that matter—but he was very much bored all the time."

"My great, great grandfather," said the White-Bearded Gnu, "used to travel with about forty or fifty of his companions in Africa just like the buffaloes have done in America. I am told."

"He was a wild one—my great, great grandfather."

"Now that you've both had your say," remarked the Blue or Gray Gnu,

"There's Myself," said the White-Tailed Gnu.

"Not me say that I and my family hold the record for being the meanest, cross-est of all the Gnu families."

"We're all a cranky lot."

"We don't feel much crankier here than when we were in the wild, free state, but we won't be petted."

"Nor will we make friends with anyone—not even the keeper."

"And I'm the leader when it comes to crankiness. My keeper says I have the meanest disposition."

"You're just mean enough, too, to brag about it," said the White-Tailed Gnu.

"But what care I?"

"The life of a Gnu is a dull affair, anyway. There is no special reason for having Gnu families in the world."

"Anyway, I think everything is so dull, so stupid and so boring that I rather like to be mean, too."

"It's the only thing which gives me any amusement in life."

And the others all agreed with this sentiment. For—

The Gnu,
The Gnu,
Is gloomy
And blue,
Sometimes gray,
Sometimes white,
And a sad-
Looking sight.
The one that's white
Is not all white,
But even so,
Is a sad-
Looking sight.

Bring Back the Key

"I told you to be in by ten," said the angry father.

"Yes, daddy, but I'm only a quarter of an hour late," replied his daughter.

"I give you a liberty and you abuse it," stormed the old man. "As a punishment you will go to your room at once, lock yourself in, and bring me the key."—Peabody Star.

On the Bad Side

Betty and Billy were twins, but totally unlike in disposition. Betty was quiet and Billy full of pep.

One day, having committed some mischievous act, her mother scolded him, saying: "Now, why can't you be good like Betty?"

He answered: "I spects 'cause I've had the bad side of the twins."

Inventing a New Game

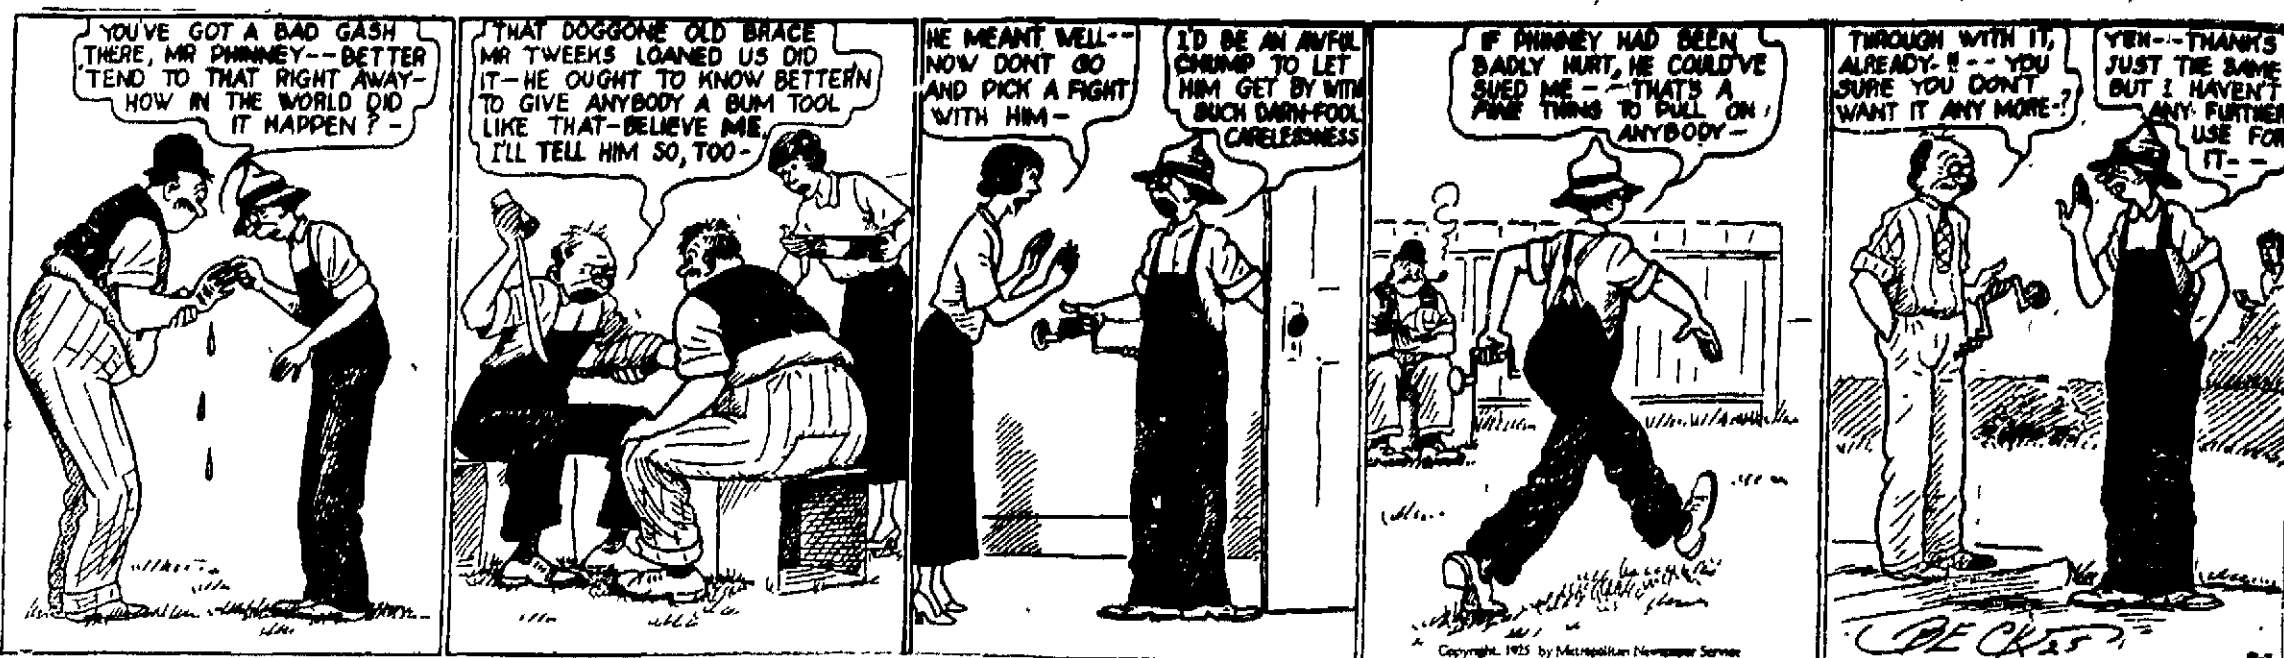

Two small boys were puzzling their brains to invent a new game. At last one of them said, eagerly: "I know, Billy, let's see who can make the ugliest face."

"Aw go on!" was the reply. "Look what a start you've got."—Pathfinder.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

Peter Stuyvesant.

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

PETER STUYVESANT WAS THE LAST DUTCH GOVERNOR OF NEW NETHERLAND (1674)—HE WAS FEARLESS AND EFFICIENT BUT ALSO HARSH AND TYRANNICAL. HAVING LOST A LEG IN THE WARS HE WAS NICK-NAMED OLD SILVER LEG. —McClure Newspaper Syndicate

STUYVESANT MADE STRICT LAWS FOR THE COLONY AND TRIED TO LEVY TAXES WITHOUT THE CONSENT OF THE PEOPLE. HE DENIED THE RIGHT OF THE COLONISTS TO HAVE A SAY IN THE GOVERNMENT AND REFUSED TO LISTEN TO THEIR PROTESTS.

IN 1649 THE BURGHERS OF NEW AMSTERDAM SENT A PETITION TO HOLLAND, ASKING FOR A MORE LIBERAL GOVERNMENT, THAT RESULTED IN THE APPOINTMENT OF A COUNCIL OF NINE CITIZENS TO ADVISE THE GOVERNOR, MUCH TO STUYVESANT'S DISGUST.

THE OLD GOVERNOR WAS A RELIGIOUS BIGOT AND ALL THOSE WHO DID NOT WORSHIP AS HE DID WERE CRUELY PERSECUTED. IN SPITE OF THIS, MANY SETTLERS OF OTHER BELIEFS CAME TO NEW AMSTERDAM. —"TOMORROW"—THE FALL OF NEW NETHERLAND.

Isn't it fine when the day is done,
And the petty battles are lost or won,
When the gold is made and the ink is dried,
To quit the struggle and turn aside
To spend an hour with your boy
And let him race all of your cares away?

FOOD FOR TWO

Almost all housekeepers commence their housekeeping just for two. As most standard recipes are given for families of five or six, it is convenient to have a few reliable small recipes which will serve for two. The following are some.

Popovers.—This recipe makes half a dozen and there will never be any leftovers, if they are well-baked. Popover cups are necessary—deep granite cups are best. Beat one egg until light, add one-fourth teaspoonful of salt, then beat in one cupful of milk, then one cupful of flour; beat well. Pour into well-buttered popover cups and place in a hot oven for the first fifteen minutes; then after the popovers have popped well reduce and finish baking three-quarters of an hour.

Baking Powder Biscuits.—Take one cupful of flour, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one-fourth teaspoonful of salt, one tablespoonful of fat, and one-third of a cupful of milk. Sift the dry ingredients, cut in the fat, and add the milk. Drop by rounding teaspoonfuls in a baking pan. Bake in a hot oven. This recipe makes eight biscuits.

Potato Soup.—Scald a cupful of milk with a slice of onion, remove the onion and add one-fourth of a cupful of mashed potato, salt, pepper and minced parsley. Let come to the boiling point, add a teaspoonful of butter and sprinkle the parsley over the soup as it is served. Chopped chives make a nice garnish and flavor, if desired.

Norwegian Pudding.—Soak one cupful of sage or use the minute tapioca. Boil two cupfuls of gooseberries in two cupfuls of water, add sugar to taste. When the fruit is soft, rub through a sieve and return to the saucepan with the sage. Cook until the sage is clear. Mold, and when set, serve with plain or whipped cream. Tapioca baked with apples, pineapples, pears or peaches and served when cold with cream and sugar makes a most dainty dessert.

LYONSVILLE.
Lyonville, July 2.—Fred D. Oakley and family spent Tuesday in Kingston.

The house Mrs. Mary Christiana recently sold is now occupied by out of town people.

Elmer Van Demark and family of Kerkhousen spent Sunday afternoon at the home of George H. Greene. A number of people from this place are expected to attend the circus at Kingston on July 6.

The Rev. and Mrs. Grunstra were entertained at the home of Jacob H. Barley after service on Sunday.

Service at the Clove.
The Clove, July 2.—There will be the evening service at the Clove Chapel next Sunday evening at 7.30 with preaching by the Rev. Thomas Braithwaite of the Reformed Church at High Falls. All are invited to join in this service.

Matters Before The Surrogate

Letters testamentary have been issued by Surrogate George F. Kaufman to Annie E. Seaman widow, in estate of Edward L. Seaman, Saugerties, who is named executrix and is bequeathed all of the estate for life, after her death to go share and share alike to the children, Helen G. Washburn and W. Leslie Seaman. Value of estate exceeds $5,000 real, exceeds $5,000 personal. Will admitted to probate. Byron L. Davis attorney for petitioner.

HIGH FALLS.

High Falls, July 2.—"What Are We Doing for Our Country?" is the topic of the sermon by the Rev. Thomas S. Braithwaite in the Reformed Church, High Falls next Sunday morning at 10:30 and at Allgerville in the afternoon at 3 o'clock. Sunday school at 9:30. Thomas Snyder, superintendent, Christian Endeavor meeting at 7:30; subject for consideration, "What Makes a Nation Great."

KRUMVILLE.

Krumville, July 2.—Simon Merriew and family spent Sunday out of town.

Mrs. Asebeth Markle, who has been spending some time with her niece, Mrs. J. Boice of Kerkhousen, has returned home.

Uriah Connor from Krippebush was through this place buying eggs. Mr. and Mrs. Dickhought, proprietors of the Olive Bridge Poultry Farm, have returned to New York.

Harry Christiansa and family are spending a few days with his father.

The Fourth of July celebration which is to be held on the church grounds is looked forward to as a promising event. Music will be furnished by Muller's orchestra from Kingston both afternoon and evening starting at three o'clock. Supper and other refreshments will be on sale. And a long remembered time is promised all who attend.

Horace Drymond, who has been doing carpenter work for B. Davis, has returned home.

Mrs. Paul Smith, who is seriously ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Winchell, remains about the same.

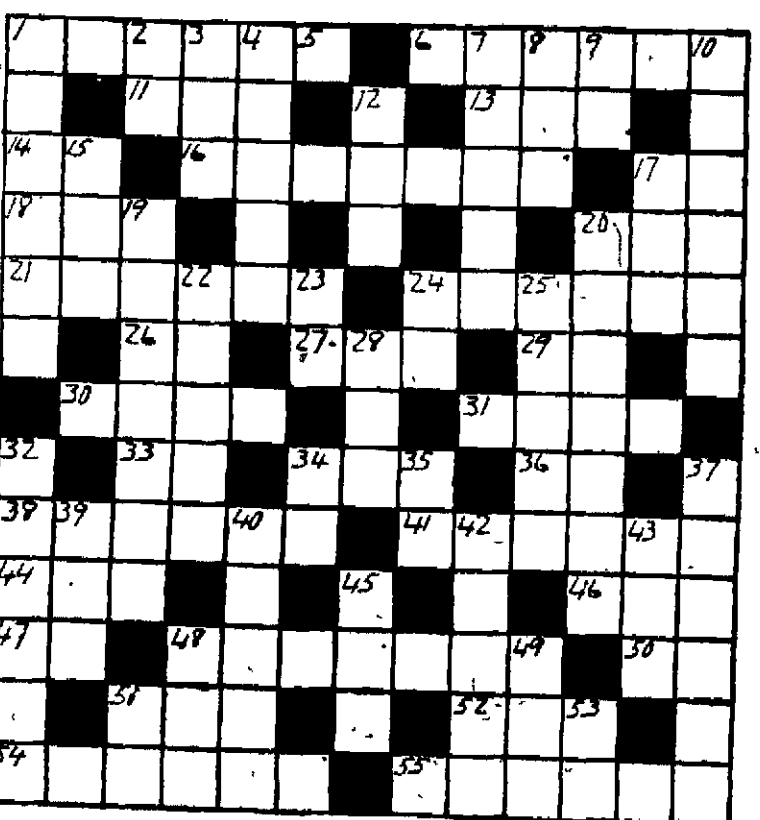

Mrs. Charles Giles of Shokan is spending some time with her mother, Mrs. E. Merriew.

Reese Christiansa and sons are equipping their quarry with a compressed air outfit.

Real Magician Wars on Fakes

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Boston, Mass., July 3.—Harry Houdini, well known magician, who has caused the arrest of a notorious "seer" in New York, is coming to this city on Monday to aid in a war on fake "mediums" here, it became known today.

Scores of "seers" in this city are reported to the authorities as obtaining money under false pretenses.

Miners Return Home "Satisfied"

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Scranton, Pa., July 3.—Delegates who attended the Tri-District Convention of the United Mine Workers of America for the past four days, were leaving here for their homes today following the adjournment since the 1925 gathering, after having adopted every recommendation of the wage scale and resolutions committees.

International President John L. Lewis, chairman of the convention, appealed to the miners in his closing address to "go back to your communities and have faith in the officials who will meet the coal operators in joint conference in Atlantic City on Thursday of next week."

"Lend your moral support to the demands made by your scale committee at this convention," Lewis said, "whether you agree with these demands or not, the fact remains they are the will of the majority of the assembled delegates."

Andrew Mattey, president of District No. 7, declared there would be a cessation of mining activities in the anthracite field on September 1.

AMSTERDAM OBSERVES 650TH ANNIVERSARY.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Amsterdam, July 3.—The city of Amsterdam today opened an exhibition in the "Rijksmuseum" in commemoration of the 650th anniversary of the city's founding.

Besides historical documents, valuable works of art, which illustrate the city's historical past, are included in the exhibition.

Among the first-class paintings loaned for the exhibition ranks foremost "Clausius Civilis" by Rembrandt, once in the Amsterdam town hall but now owned by the Academy of Stockholm.

Sir Joseph Duveen is sending from the United States the famous "Standard Bearer of Amsterdam."

Other famous Rembrandts are being loaned by Berlin and London collectors.

THE FOLKS AROUND

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

IT ISN'T what makes summer hot Or what makes winter cold That keeps us blue or warm as through Or makes us young or old. Not sun nor hail nor calm nor gale Makes sad or glad the way— But more the kind of folks we find Around us every day.

When night is gone the day may dawn With blue and perfect skies; But, if a word unkind is heard, Then all the glory dies. The morn may bring the hail to sting But, if our hearts are warm, We'll trudge along and sing our song And never mind the storm!

Not sun or moon makes night or noon, Nor season spring or fall; We give life cheer or make it drear For others, after all. God grant your smile lights every mile, Whatever road you go! Make fair the day, make glad the way, And you will find it so!

Something to Think About
By F. A. WALKER

HONORABLE DEFEAT

BE NOT ashamed of defeat that is clothed with honor. It is better by far to be true to yourself, loyal to exalted principles, able at all times to look into your mirror without a sense of guilt, than to wear fine garments and sit among kings.

It is better to sleep sweetly at night with a clear conscience than to toss about in fear of punishment, which you know you have earned and rightfully deserve.

It is better to be poor all your days than to cheat, lie and steal while heaping up wealth in the frantic chase that frequently leads to broken health and groveling age, before the allotted time of three score years and ten.

If you have preserved your honor in the hard struggle for existence, if your heart is full of joyous faith when the sky begins to darken at your coming night, you have within you a sublime peace which all the wealth of the world cannot buy, and which, if offered you, you would brush aside as worthless dross.

Be not dismayed if you cannot spring up in a day to the heights of power through chicanery; but instead be filled with confidence, because the years in which you have labored without tainting your soul have left you clean, clear-eyed and hopeful.

It is not for every worthy man to win in battle; it is not for every blooming rose to be the queen of roses; it is not for every tree to be an oak, nor every stream to be a river.

Each has its part in the scheme of things of which we mortals know nothing; each is playing its role for which it was created and intended.

The thing for man to do is to learn humility, patience, charity, chastity, and march ahead undaunted regardless of the sneers of the vain and thoughtless.

Look upward and move on, in storm and calm.

Follow open-eyed Faith though the night be dark and the way be rough—there's a radiance of sunlight a little way ahead speeding toward you on the wings of a new day.

Think of this glorious dawning; forget your defeats, defects, disappointments and griefs. Do your best without faltering or bemoaning your lot, and you will be joyously happy in the end that you have retained your honor.

Rev. Dumbell Was Married Here

Former Darien, Conn., Minister Obtained License and Was Married to Mary Louise Smith by Judge Schirrick on June 18.

According to a dispatch the Rev. Howard Murray Dumbell, who gave his address as Darien, Conn., while in Kingston in June was married to his second wife, Mary Louise Smith, also of Darien, while divorce proceedings instituted by his first wife were still pending.

The first wife, Anna Sherrod Dumbell, for whom wife No. 2 used to make dresses at the rectory of St. Luke's Episcopal Church at Noroton, Conn., started divorce proceedings in March, alleging cruelty, and will proceed with that divorce suit. The oldest is married. The rector resigned his charge at Noroton in April.

When Dumbell and Miss Smith applied to City Clerk A. A. Styles for a marriage license the minister stated he was 60 years old and his wife gave her age as 21. He stated it was his second marriage and that his former wife was living, but that he had obtained a divorce from her on June 2, 1925, at Merida, Yucatan.

After obtaining the license of the city clerk, Dumbell and Miss Smith went downstairs to the city court where they were married by Judge Harry H. Schirrick. This was on June 18 of this year.

They stated at that time that they were making a motor trip to California.

Hi-jacking Case Falls Through

Frank Ostrosky of Kingston Failed to Appeal to Press Charge—Truck
Was Owned by Edward Cochrane of Kingston — Prisoners Discharged.

George Wilkinson, a battery man,
and Charles Meyers, a waiter, both of Newburgh, charged with robbery were discharged by Justice of the Peace Harrison S. Coutant in New Windsor Wednesday evening on the motion of their attorney, Henry R.
Herman. Because of the absence of Frank Ostrosky, a truck driver of Kingston, District Attorney Elmer H.
Lemon asked for a further adjournment.

Ostrosky was the man who reported to Sergeant Al Wiltale of the Newburgh police early Saturday morning, June 27, that a big Mack truck he was driving from Kingston to Haverstraw, loaded with 80 "halves" of beer, had been "hi-jacked" by eight men in two Buick cars on the state road near Woodlawn cemetery. At a hearing before Justice Coutant on the same day an adjournment was granted to the district attorney's office until Monday evening and the two defendants were held in $5,000 bail
each.

The Newburgh police conducted an investigation which resulted in Chief of Police Fred G. Brown and Detective-Sergeant John Barton taking Wilkinson and Meyers into custody. Under-sheriff Joseph A. Woodburn and State Trooper J. J. Sullivan, working in conjunction with the police, recovered
the truck, owned by Edward Cochrane
of Kingston, which had been abandoned
near the junction of the North Plank and Orange Lake roads. The beer had disappeared.
Following up clues, Sheriff Woodburn and Trooper Sullivan found the beer
in woods about half a mile from the Cochrane turnpike. One of the Buick cars said to have been used in the hold-up was also found abandoned on West Broadway. The beer, it is said, was assigned to a Michael Hughes of Haverstraw.

The charge against the two young men was preferred by Trooper Sullivan
on information and belief, alleging that Wilkinson and Meyers, aided by accomplices and automobiles
had stopped, under the threat of firearms, the truck loaded with beer and had taken both the truck and the beer away from the driver.

Subway Mishap Delays a Million

Terrific Congestion Follows Accident at Power House Which Caused 38 Minute Tie-up of New York's Transportation System.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, July 3.—The entire transportation system of New York city was tied up for 38 minutes today.

Subway, surface and "L" trains were brought to a dead halt by a mishap at the main power house of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company, causing one of the worst tie-ups in the city's history.

It is estimated close to 1,000,000 persons were late for work. The power failed at 7:30, when the great crowds were on their way to places of business.

The congestion was terrific. At intervals the trains finally were able to crawl along. Crowds thronged subway platforms and piled into the slowly moving trains. Many walked part way to work. Busses and taxicabs were at a premium.

Army Leaders Threshed Out General

Plan of Defensive Action Against

Imaginary foe—Follows Line of Pershing Plan.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, July 3.—A preliminary "defense test" began today in advance of the formal, nationwide

preparedness program tomorrow with a muster of the war department, presided over by Major General John L.

Hines, chief of staff.

Twenty army leaders, including

assistant chiefs of staff and chiefs of branches, threshed out phases of the general plan of defensive action against an imaginary foe.

The latest views of all were sought

at the conference as a means of

"modernizing" the general war plan

drawn up during the past two years.

"While the plans have not yet been entirely completed," said General Hines, "they have been carried sufficiently far to permit their functioning on the outbreak of an emergency.

"In fact we have not reached the stage when the general basis of the plans has been stabilized and what we discussed at today's conference

were latest views for improvements

in specific details.

Today's conference was patterned largely after the "muster of plans"

called by General John J. Pershing

while chief of staff prior to the defense test last year.

The war department announced

following the conference that arrangements for making defense day a success had been completed.

In all states of the Union there will be either formal or informal observance of the war department's program, and in the larger centers a large turnout of the various branches of the army was anticipated.

Mounting That Is Very Easily Made

Three-Coil Variable Any Experimenter Can Build;
It Is Satisfactory.

One of the most difficult instruments to construct so that it will operate smoothly and have a fine control is a three-coil variable mounting. In the sketch is shown a mounting that any experimenter may make, which should be satisfactory.

The variable gears shown are taken from a discarded mandolin or may be purchased at a hardware store. The sub-panel that the gears are mounted upon is of bakelite or hard rubber and should be about four inches in length. The two brackets that hold this sub-panel to the panel of the set are made of brass strips 1/4 inch wide and 1-1/8 inch thick.

The first operation in the construction of this mounting is to drill the sub-panel as shown. Dimensions will not be given here as they depend upon the type of gears used and also the type of coils. However, a precaution might be mentioned. Be careful in drilling the sub-panel to keep the drill at right angles to the sub-panel so that the shafts of the gears will run true. As may be seen in the sketches, the worm parts of the gearing system are attached to the dials of the set.

Attaching the coils to the gears may be done in any number of ways. The simplest is to drill a hole in the standard mounting that comes with the coils of such a size that they may be fastened securely to the vertical shafts of the gears. It will be found that this system of mounting honeycomb or spider-web coils is one of the best that has yet been tried—Radio News.

Glass Antenna Can Be Made of Towel Rods

A cheap and efficient antenna insulator can be easily made as shown in the sketch. Procure glass towel rods, which may be purchased at any plumbing establishment, about 15 inches in length. Two blocks of wood for each insulator 5 inches square and 1/2 inch thick are drilled as follows: In the middle of the block a hole slightly smaller than the rod and through the block perpendicular to the large hole two holes large enough to take a 1/4-inch bolt 1/2 inch from the top and bottom of the block. The blocks are then sawed in half through the three holes. The glass rod is placed between the two halves of a block and fastened there by tightening the bolts through the small holes. The supporting wires of the antenna may be fastened to the bolts—Radio News.

Antenna Insulator Made of Blocks of Wood and Glass Rod.

When and How to Add Water to "A" Battery

If water is added to the storage "A" battery when it is nearly discharged, it is likely to run out of the vents in the filler caps when the battery reaches full charge. This is due to the quantity of bubbles which form in the solution and greatly increase its bulk.

In most batteries, the separators between the plates extend up above the level of the top edge of the plates so that it is only necessary to keep the acid solution just above the separators. Water can be added after the battery is fully charged.

Reforestation in Ulster County

Approximately 42 Acres of Idle Land Planted This Year With Trees Supplied by State—Work Progressing to Eliminate White Pine Blister Rust.

Interest in reforestation of idle lands in this county is progressing as is evidenced by the 42,500 young forest trees which have been planted the past spring. This means approximately 42 acres of idle lands reforested this spring, which added to the total of 721,595 trees planted in this county since 1909 brings the total acreage reforested up to approximately 800 acres. Although this is only a small part of the idle lands in the county that should be planted to forest trees, yet it is a good start on this idle-land-forestation project which is fast becoming a national need in order to provide for our future timber supply.

Many farmers and other land owners are taking advantage of the young forest trees produced by the State Conservation Commission in their nurseries and sold at cost of production, from $2 to $4 per thousand. About 14,000,000 of these young trees were sold from the three state nurseries this spring.

The names of persons here in the county who have planted trees this spring are: K. Cramer and I. T. Cross of Woodstock, H. E. Bell and F. W. Schramm of Marlborough, Mrs. T. Krehler of Olive, R. Spindler of Rosendale, Mrs. C. Young of Wawarsing, M. Davis of Rochester, Forest Lake Club of Hardenbergh, C. C. DuMont of Esopus, H. J. Schroeder of Saugerties, R. Jenkins of Gardner, the City of Kingston and Village of Saugerties.

The work on the White Pine Blister Rust disease in Ulster county is progressing favorably and many pine owners are having the gooseberries and currant bushes, which spread the disease to the pine, removed from within and for a safe distance around their white pine stands. At present there is one crew working under the supervision of a state foreman on the lands of the city of New York surrounding the Ashokan Reservoir. Miss Bertha Miller's pine at Stone Ridge has been cleaned of gooseberries and currants and there are several other pine owners in the county, including the Saugerties Farms pine lands, which will be cleaned up this season.

This disease, as many people seem to think, is not spread by a bug or insect of any kind, but is a fungus disease which requires two altogether different species of plant life, one being the native white pine and the other any of the various species of wild or cultivated currant or gooseberry plants, in order to complete its life cycle. The disease is transmitted by very minute bodies called spores, the disease spores from white pine cannot infect another white pine but must land on the leaf of a currant or gooseberry bush, causing infection on the under side of the leaf and it is the spores from these infections on the leaves of the currant and gooseberry bushes that cause the disease on the white pine. It is due to the peculiar nature of the disease that it can be controlled, simply by removing one of the two hosts, and as white pine is the most valuable of the soft wood trees, it pays the pine owner to safeguard his pine crop and have the gooseberries and currant bushes removed.

This work is done under the supervision of the United States Department of Agriculture and the State Conservation Commission and any pine owner wishing it can have his white pine inspected free of charge, and if it requires cleaning up the state will provide him with a trained man to supervise the work, if the owner will supply him with the necessary labor, anywhere from two to five men, depending on type of land to be worked.

Anyone interested in any forestry problems can get help and information by getting in touch with the County Farm Bureau, Kingston, N. Y., or the State Conservation Commission, Albany, N. Y.

That an Ethereal Dance Frock Is the Best Choice for Midsummer Parties.

When summer comes, comes also a desire for cloudlike draperies. While an indulgence in bright colors is at present countenanced, the frock which makes the greatest appeal is the one which is soft in color and in material.

With the inconsistency which is fashion's prerogative, black frocks are beginning to be recognized as a new note. White ones are very general for evening, and when the black ones are sufficiently diaphanous, they are as well liked. As is the case with the white costumes, for other than evening wear, color will creep in.

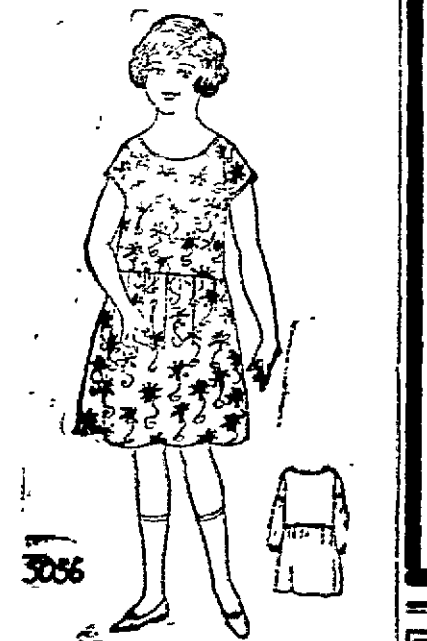

Black Chiffon and Piquant Puffs of Black Tulle are Brightened by Pink and Green Ribbons.

The model sketched, which one senses at once bears a French label, has its color note supplied by faillie ribbon in lettuce green, gold-edged ribbon and an equally soft rose. The rather extraordinary combination of tulle as a supplement to chiffon, is a sort of aftermath of the partiality we all manifest toward lace and chiffon.

It is a reasonable thing, as well as a smart one to add a flower to one's frock, though, of course, the idea is not offered as new. Paris sees to it, however, that there is always a new rogue in flowers—at one time it is the small prim gardenia, at another the large rose. Chanel has fashioned a particularly large and attractive rose, making its petals of crinkly crepe, and she sponsors this even on the lapel of a coat or somewhere about the evening frock, even the hem not being disapproved of as a resting place for a flower which appears to be all but toppling off.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Pretty, Simple Frock for Mother's Girl.

5056. Figured silk or printed crepe or chiffon could be used for this design. The style is also attractive in challie, gingham or pongee.

The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 4, 6, 8 and 10 years. To make of one material as shown in the large view, for a 6 year size will require 2 1/2 yards of 27 inch material. If made with the peasant sleeve portions 2 1/2 yards will be required.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 15c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Fashion Book Notes.

Said 15c in coin or stamps to The Freeman for our up-to-date spring and summer 1925 Book of Fashion, showing color plates, and containing 500 designs of ladies', misses' and children's patterns, a concise and comprehensive article on dressmaking, also some points for the needle (illustrating 30 of the various simple stitches), all valuable hints to the home dressmaker.

Ideal Climate

Human health and strength are greatest when the temperature drops to about 55 to 59 degrees at night and rises to somewhere between 65 and 72 degrees during the middle of the day.

Fluttering Clothes Are Not Incompatible With Slenderness

Fluttering clothes are at present the darling of fashion. The girl who wishes to appear as slender as possible may eye the styles with uncertainty. She can, however, be as fluttery as she wishes, like the girl on the left, by sticking to the slender silhouette and keeping the fluttering in loose panels and frills that flare out at the bottom when she walks.

Mushroom Broke Stone

A Nantucket mushroom with a yearning for the sunshine has proved a wonder. A hump was noticed in the concrete walk on Independence lane. A few days later the surface of the walk was found to be broken. Examination revealed a mushroom, about five inches in diameter, which had forced its way up through two inches of solid concrete.

Most Ancient City

Damascus claims the distinction of being the oldest city in the world. It comes into religious history with the advent of Abram. As capital of Syria, the country joining Palestine on the north, it was always of importance to the Jews. Apparently it has been an important trade center from the most remote ages.

Prestige & Profit

Goods advertised in newspapers are superior to non-advertised goods!

This is the conclusion of a Better Business Bureau that has been checking up newspaper advertising in an Eastern city.

Careful comparisons were made of advertised goods and similar lines that were not advertised.

In 95% of the cases, the Better Business Bureau reports, the advertised articles were superior in quality to the non-advertised articles.

Good news for newspaper readers—of course, but most of them know it by experience.

How about the national advertiser who is seeking that elusive thing called "prestige"?

A manufacturer's brands are in the best company when they are in the advertising columns of the daily newspaper.

And since newspaper advertising sells goods, newspaper advertisers combine prestige with profit.

Be Sure to Kill Them All! Black Flag Gets Every Single Fly And Mosquito

BLACK FLAG is the most thorough killer of flies, mosquitoes and roaches ever made. Not one escapes alive. For BLACK FLAG contains a secret vegetable ingredient which is the surest death to insects ever discovered. Bugs breathe it and die. But it is absolutely harmless to humans and animals.

Ordinary insecticides kill, at best, only 6 out of every 10 pests. The four which get away breed hundreds which return. But BLACK FLAG doesn't let one get away. It kills them all—10 out of every 10.

BLACK FLAG kills flies, mosquitoes, roaches, ants, bedbugs, moths, dog fleas, plant lice and chicken lice.

BLACK FLAG is made in powder and liquid. Both are equally effective, equally deadly, with these three exceptions—never use any liquid on furs; use the powder to make them mothproof. Use the powder, also, to kill dog fleas and lice.

Many prefer the liquid to kill flies, mosquitoes and moths—the powder to kill roaches, ants, bedbugs, dog fleas, plant lice and chicken lice. Many people use both powder and liquid.

BLACK FLAG costs less. Powder, 15c up. Powder Gun, 10c. Liquid, 25c up. Sprayer, 45c. Special introductory package containing can of liquid BLACK FLAG and sprayer for only 65c. At drug, grocery, hardware and department stores. Buy BLACK FLAG today.

Double-Header Here Tomorrow

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, July 3.—Making due allowance for the "rabbit ball" and the fact that modern pitching is not what it might be, there nevertheless seems to be no way of going behind the fact that the Pittsburgh Pirates, taken at the face value of their record to date, are the greatest hitting outfit of several generations, if not of all time. How many points have pitching restrictions and the lively ball added to the average player's hitting? Not more than fifty.

Therefore, even the die-hards who still live in "the good old eighties" must concede that a ball club hitting for a team average of .329 on June 24 must have something all others have lacked. The figures quoted just about represent a world's record for this more or less advanced period of the campaign.

Eight Above .355.
All one has to do is cut fifty points off each Pirate's average and then compare the result with those obtained by the great hitting combinations of other years—the old Giants, the old and new Tigers, the old Athletics, etc. The Pirates will continue to show a margin of profit. A ball club with eight men hitting above .355 could hardly do otherwise. A glance down the line-up tells the story. On June 24 it showed: Barnhart hitting .382; Grantham, .369; Earl Smith, .358; Carey, .356; Cuyler, .348; Wright, .348; Traynor, .345 and, Moore, .340.

Walden Won in Extra Inning

From Colonials at Fair Grounds Thursday, Score 3 to 1—Ellis Allowed But Five Safeties—Baker Pitched Good Ball For Locals.

"Spec" Ellis led a small gang of Waldenites up to the Fair Grounds Thursday night and did a job that Chapple's All-Stars failed to do just two nights before, as this little crowd from their respective village lengthened the game one inning and during this additional period effected a two run lead which made them possessors of the 3-1 contest. Ellis's policy was economy, giving the locals only five hits, and only one of the hits took part in the run making. Out of McDermott's two safe walks, the one in the sixth frame gave Peters in for the lone Kingston run.

Eddie Baker was posted on the mound for the Colonials and had the law in his own hands until the extra-inning when a couple of hits were the means of scoring two runs for the enemy. Eddie let eight of the Waldenites connect for hits, although two or three were of the unhealthy nature, being scratch connections.

Peters brought the Colonials' only marker across the plate in the sixth. Peters coasted Specs for a pass and then Kelly sacrificed him to second. After Matty's whiff, McDermott pounded to center field and Peters hung up the Colonials' only prize of the contest.

The visitors captured the first of their spoils in the fifth session. Franco's walk started the round and followed two hits which allowed the first baseman to hang up the first one.

A walk put Snyder on the initial bag in the tenth. Rhome replaced him on first when he pushed out a bunt. Baker's throw to second was late and all hands were safe. Anderson's single over second scored Snyder, as Kelly's throw home jumped out of Jack's mitt. Rhome scored when Traphagen "dropped" a single toward left field.

The Colonial lucky eight was welcomed by all local fans but chances of winning were soon cut short by a snappy double play.

Peters had tied out to the first baseman when Kelly hit a single to left. Then came the unlucky Rhine. Deegan put one out that started into Snyder, the second sackman's glove, who threw to first, catching Kelly and ending all chances of scoring.

Sheldon started the Waldenites hitting in the sixth session for his hard hammer had all the necessary traits of a circuit wallop, but the fence got in the way of it and it settled for a double.

Bill Griffin, who was with the Colonials, has quit for a job with the Margaretville club as both player and manager. Bill Schaw was out of the line-up last night, and Phelan was posted over in right field to fill the vacancy.

Pirates Greatest Hitters in Years

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, July 3.—Making due allowance for the "rabbit ball" and the fact that modern pitching is not what it might be, there nevertheless seems to be no way of going behind the fact that the Pittsburgh Pirates, taken at the face value of their record to date, are the greatest hitting outfit of several generations, if not of all time. How many points have pitching restrictions and the lively ball added to the average player's hitting? Not more than fifty.

Therefore, even the die-hards who still live in "the good old eighties" must concede that a ball club hitting for a team average of .329 on June 24 must have something all others have lacked. The figures quoted just about represent a world's record for this more or less advanced period of the campaign.

Eight Above .355.

All one has to do is cut fifty points off each Pirate's average and then compare the result with those obtained by the great hitting combinations of other years—the old Giants, the old and new Tigers, the old Athletics, etc. The Pirates will continue to show a margin of profit. A ball club with eight men hitting above .355 could hardly do otherwise. A glance down the line-up tells the story. On June 24 it showed: Barnhart hitting .382; Grantham, .369; Earl Smith, .358; Carey, .356; Cuyler, .348; Wright, .348; Traynor, .345 and, Moore, .340.

In brief, every regular was getting close to two hits in every five attempts.

Break All Records.
The result was inevitable. The Pirates broke all records for modern scoring during the month of June and in one wild spell of seven days scored the colossal total of 85 runs in seven games—forty-six of them on successive playing days.

On Saturday, June 20, they started the universe by running up 21 runs on the Brooklyn Dodgers. Sunday was a off day in the schedule, then they stepped out on Monday and scored 26 runs on the St. Louis Cardinals. A few days earlier, the Pirates had tallied thirteen times on the New York Giants. The writer defies the modern old timers to beat this record. Nothing like it has been seen since the boys were long of hair and short of breath.

ALL-STARS TO PLAY
MARGARETVILLE TOMORROW

Tomorrow the Kingston All Stars will go to Fleischmanns to play the Margaretville Club of Margaretville, N. Y. There will be quite a battle in the mountain towns as the locals will fight hard to make a three straight wins.

The Margaretville Club defeated the All Stars a month ago by a 7-4 score. However the locals are almost confident of a victory and will be sure to keep their winning streak up. Either Volker or Cragan will twirl for the Kingston boys tomorrow, while Robinson will most likely toss them over for the mountain club.

There is a parade in Fleischmanns in the morning together with a few more stunts in the afternoon. The locals are the guests of the town. The All Stars are one of the youngest semi-pro outfits throughout the state and are doing better than most clubs with more experience. However the locals never lack the true young fighting spirit which has helped them along in all their games.

CHAMPIONSHIP MATCH
IN HORSESHOE PITCHING

The championship match in horseshoe pitching was held on the Y. M. C. A. Courts Wednesday evening, when the winners of the Mercantile League met the winners of the later Church League.

Messrs. Heaney and Haver representing Teller & Tappen pitched an excellent brand of shocs, sending home many "ringers" but in both cases the experience of Scott and Rooks representing the Elmendorf Street Presbyterian Church told, for when the necessary points to count "fifty" were needed they were always produced.

The score of the two games were as follows: 50-48; 50-44. Spectators who have seen both teams in action state that the game was by far the best this season.

These games should make the competition in the Chamber of Commerce and Farm Bureau picnic contest not only keen, but interesting to watch.

Suzanne Wins Again.
By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Wimbledon, England, July 3.—Miss Suzanne Lenglen, unofficial world champion of lawn tennis, again added the Wimbledon all comers singles to her bag of trophies today by winning from Miss Joan Fry, England's 13 year old prodigy, in the final round. Suzanne's victory came in straight sets with the loss of only two games, 6-2; 6-0.

Dance at Story Hollow.
There will be a dance at St. John's Hall, Story Hollow, on the evening of the Fourth of July. Music will be supplied by the St. Andrew orchestra. Bus will leave the Crown street terminal at 8:30 o'clock.

Tagging Major League Bases

The Pirates slid back into the National League lead, edging out a 2 to 1 victory over the Reds while the Giants lay idle. Carey's walk, Cuyler's triple and Barnhardt's hit furnished the victory.

Playing errorless ball, the Senators took two games from the Red Sox 6 to 4 and 11 to 4, and increased their slight lead in the American League race. The first game went ten innings and was decided by a home run by first baseman Joe Harris.

The portly Garland Buckeye, Cleveland pitcher, won his first game for the Indians when Speaker's men pounded Owen Carroll, former Holy Cross pitcher for an easy victory, 11 to 2.

St. Louis plugged the ball over the lot and carried off a lopsided victory over the White Sox, 15 to 6.

Home runs by Ruth and Ward failed to disturb Eddie Rommel and the Athletics defeated the Yankees, 8 to 3.

The Cubs and Cardinals went fifty-fifty on a double-header, the Cubs winning the first, 11 to 6, and the Cardinals the second, 6 to 5. Hartnett smacked two homers to bring his total for the season to 19. The Dodgers got ten hits and as many runs in the opening chapter and in the end defeated the Braves quite easily 20 to 7.

Greb, Wills and Shade Victorious

Walker Takes Scorching Whipping From Greb in Sensational Bout—Shade's Victory Over Slattery Big Surprise—Wills as Logical a Contender as Ever.

(By Davis J. Walsh.)
By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, July 3.—A new chapter in pugilistic history, fairly reeking of drama, was sent to the composing room last night to be set in bold face caps in a series of typographical shrieks.

While upward of 60,000 looked on the names of Harry Greb, Harry Wills and Dave Shade were engraved upon the pages of the prize ring's blue book by winning respectively from Mickey Walker, Charley Weinert and Jimmy Slattery in the feature bouts of the Italian hospital fund show at the Polo Grounds.

Greb, defending his middleweight title against Walker, welterweight champion, got a unanimous decision at the end of 15 rounds and had Mickey almost out in the fourteenth. The latter proved that a good little man can beat a good big man on the thirty second day of the month.

Wills, so called logical contender for the heavyweight championship, stopped Weinert with a right to the jaw in the second round. The result left Wills as logical as a prosecuting attorney and proved that Weinert's supposed comeback was aught but a snare and a delusion. The writer expected him to come back into his, the writer's lap, at any given moment and he almost did.

The great Slattery, with a half million in front of him, was knocked out by Shade in the third round for something in the neighborhood of $5,000. The crowd still is reeling from the shock of this one and it must go down on the books as a tactical triumph for Leo P. Flynn, who sent Shade on against Slattery bent almost double.

The Buffalo enemy was pleased to stand with his hands at his sides, as always, and bring up his punches. But one cannot bring up punches on a man who is half way down, can one? Obviously, one can not.

Slattery hardly laid a glove on the weaving and bobbing Shade, who carried the fight to his ruin for the first two rounds, and in the third, fairly leaped from the floor with a right that dropped Slattery for the first time in his career. He forgot the perpendicular twice more from rights to the jaw and then the towel, mute token of surrender, fluttered out from his corner.

Slattery was a 4 to 1 shot and some of the boys were carefully masticating a single individual and lone cup of coffee this morning.

It was estimated that as much as $375,000 was in the house, but, of course, the fund will benefit to no such preposterous extent. It was strictly a charity performance and with gentlemen of the profession, charity begins at the dear, old home-stand.

But what ever they got, they earned. For once, the young men went in there imbued with the ambitious idea of starting at the top and working down. Only the Dempsey-Firpo frolic, of happy memory, was productive of more action than was uncovered last night.

When it was all over, Dave Shade of California had come into overnight prominence as a contender for two titles, the welterweight and middleweight; Harry Wills still was something of a dark mystery, speaking largely and in the abstract, and Greb had proved that a gendarme is an excellent champion for road work.

Barring the first two rounds, when he ran into a series of left hooks to the body, Greb was generally on the winning end of the exchanges and, making expeditious use of his superior weight and strength, mauled Walker like an irate housewife. It was a great fight, heightened in effect by a sensational second round in which both quite forgot they were gentlemen and slugged a la puer 19, and a fourteenth round, in which Greb caught Walker on the jaw with a terrific right, drove him into his corner and swung himself weary on a man who wouldn't go down.

Walker's gameness here was the big moment of his career: It proved him greater in defeat than in many of his victories.

Greb changed his style for the occasion, and except in the later rounds, abandoned his slapstick tactics almost altogether. Perhaps as great a surprise as Slattery's knockout was the fact that Harry Greb showed he could punch, an asset of which he was hitherto unsuspected. It took a Walker to last the limit against him.

He made the mistake of rushing Walker in the early rounds, but, after taking a shellacking about the body, mended his ways without loss of time and from the third round to the tenth simply beat Mickey by the simple expedient of landing two punches to Walker's one.

He eased off a bit in the ninth, a slow round, and Walker got what ever credit ensuing from the immediate proceedings, if any.

Mickey also carried the twelfth by a simple margin, one of his sporadic rallies finding Greb's speed in neutral. The rest of the rounds, with the possible exception of the fifteenth, went to Greb, who was unmarked at the end but dislodged to sleep on his stomach last night. Walker's face looked like an over-ripe tomato at the end.

The Weinert-Wills affair proved nothing, except that Harry Wills can beat Charley Weinert now and forever. Weinert's. The white man simply was outclassed and Willie, fighting at long range for a change, was not as palpably guilty of bar-room tactics as on former occasions.

He held and hit a bit in the first round, being warned by Referee Ed. Delaney, but Weinert held and did nothing. He was lucky to last the round and knew the end was near. Wills outclassed him so thoroughly in close that Weinert fell through the ropes from weakness when the referee broke them.

A moment later he dropped his hands to stop back from a clinch and Wills crossed his right to the jaw, an obvious infraction of the rules. Weinert was badly hurt and fell into a dozed embrace. The referee broke them again and Wills came to his prey, looking a left to the body that brought down Weinert's guard and a right to the jaw that brought down everything Weinert included. It was hardly necessary to go through the formality of a count, but they did.

Carroll Has Much to Learn

His Pitching in Major League Indicates Gulf Between College and Major Brands—Carroll Notices Difference.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, July 3.—Owen Carroll's recent debut as a major league pitcher may or may not have indicated that he is not quite the young man his college record, with Holy Cross would seem to indicate. A single performance is hardly an adequate basis on which to pass judgement. It is only fair to Carroll to see more and say less of him, pending developments.

However, this much may be ventured: That the party or parties who have come out on his or their flat feet to state that Carroll is the greatest college pitcher of all time has or have become a trifle flamboyant, not to say immoderate.

Carroll might be all that but why, at this premature date, discount such as Eddy Plank, of Gettysburg; Chief Bender, of Carlisle, Lundgren, of Illinois; Sisler, of Michigan; Clarkston, of Harvard, and Jack Coombs, of Colby, without a hearing? It just isn't being done.

To my mind, another premature decision is that Carroll should be a great major league player just because he stopped a lot of college boys. The history of college baseball is all against this supposition and so is the record of Carroll himself, in spite of his succession of victories.

The writer kept a careful eye on Carroll's collegiate progress this year and found that a number of college teams were getting to him for seven to ten hits a game. Does that prove that he can fool major leaguers? It does not.

In the first place the college ball player is notorious for his weak hitting. In the second, he hasn't the benefit of the lively ball now used in the majors. Therefore, everything is in favor of the college pitcher.

Carroll himself noticed the difference when he faced the Red Sox.

"I found I had to pitch to nine dangerous batters, where in college I only had to contend with three or four," Carroll said after he was removed from the box by Ty Cobb. "Another thing, they wouldn't hit at bad balls."

From this statement it may be taken that Carroll has a lot to learn about major league ways. On whether he learns his lesson or not depends his future success in the big time. Apparently, he is a step or so removed from the goal at this time, in spite of the

Byrne Brothers 25 Years Here

Celebrating Their Quarter Century in Business in Kingston—Many Improvements Made by Two Enterprising Citizens.

The twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of their business in Kingston, which occurs on July 19, is being celebrated in advance by the Byrne brothers, prominent work, in a unique manner, as described in an advertisement in another column in The Freeman today. Usually the celebrant of an anniversary receives gifts. The Byrne Brothers are reversing this and doing the giving.

Practical and expert marble and granite workers themselves, the Byrne brothers came to Kingston from New England in 1900 and started in their monument business in a modest way. The business has increased until now it covers a block on Broadway between Henry and Van Deusen streets, including a fine brick building on the ground floor of which the office of the firm is located.
In the 25 years the firm has been here the method of lettering monuments has been revolutionized. Instead of slow hand labor, the quality of the result depending on the skill of the workman, pneumatic tools are now used and the speedy sand blast leaves little to chance. It is possible to take an order for a monument one day and erect it next day, instead of waiting weeks for the work to be done by hand.

William B. and James Byrne, who constitute the firm, are enterprising and public spirited citizens who find Kingston a good place to live and to do business in. They have never regretted coming down from their native granite hills of New England to live in Kingston and Kingston has benefited by their coming. Their marble yard, with its latest type of machinery, is well worth a visit, especially by those interested in machinery, and all visitors are welcome and will receive most polite attention.

Society Notes

Colony Bridge Club.

The Colony Bridge Club of this city had another delightful outing on Thursday, when they spent the day with Mrs. Eliza Mollineux at her farm at Pine Hill. A delicious chicken dinner was served to her twenty guests and the day was ideal. The guests were conveyed to the farm in four autos driven by Mrs. Harry Lefever, Mrs. Hewitt Boice, Miss Luella Turk and Mrs. Benjamin Johnston.

Monarch Employees Dine.

The employees of the Monarch Dress House, corner of Fair and ful supper Thursday evening at the factory through the courtesy of Mr.

Yedlin, manager. Dancing and singing was also enjoyed, the girls' slogan
being, "when we work we work
but leave it to the girls of the Monarch for fun." At the conclusion of the evening's fun the girls departed vowing Mr. Yedlin a most delicious entertainer.

A Farewell Party.

Wednesday evening, July 1, the Kingston Hebrew School Glee Club
gave a farewell party for Mr.
Hurwitz, who was a teacher of the school and the organizer of the Hebrew School Glee Club. He was dearly loved by the members of the Glee Club and by all his pupils. The hall was decorated beautifully by Sadie Lutzin, vice-president of the Glee Club; Richard Kalish, treasurer; Bernard Goldman, secretary; Sidney Lutzin, Sylvia Mann, Harold Cohen and Harold Kalish. The boys and girls were lined up in two rows and when Mr. Hurwitz came in he was showered upon with confetti.
After this the visitors, Dr. and Mrs.
Leavitt and Mr. and Mrs. Katz, Lutzin, presented Mr. Hurwitz with a beautiful loving cup. Mr. Hurwitz spoke and was applauded very loudly
by all. Dr. Leavitt and Mr. Katz then spoke. Bernard Goldman, secretary of the Glee Club for "three terms," also spoke a few words. Refreshments were served and the program proceeded. Bernard Goldman played a very beautiful piano solo.
The Glee Club sang. Esther Goldman recited. Sadie Lutzin recited, accompanied by Esther Goldman, Dorothy Berman danced, accompanied by Bernard Goldman. The assembly sang America and Haturah,
the Jewish National Hymn, and everyone went home. Mr. Hurwitz for the last time will conduct the services at the Hebrew School this evening at 8:15 o'clock. It is hoped that all Jewish parents and children will attend.

Wright-Morse.

Miss Helen May Morse, daughter of Mrs. Frances Morse of 17 Lockwood street, Binghamton, and James J. Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs.
Charles B. Wright of Gardiner, were united in marriage on Saturday evening, June 27, at 8 o'clock in Calvary Baptist Church, Gardiner.
The Rev. H. M. Pease, pastor, officiating. The altar of the church was decorated with asparagus ferns and roses. Previous to the ceremony
Mrs. Pease sang "O Promise Me" and "I Love You Truly," with Mrs.
William H. Morse as accompanist. Brother and Kenneth Stone, cousins of the bride, of Lawrenceville, Pa., were the best men. Miss Helen Marie Winslow was maid of honor and Donald Wright, brother of the groom, best man. Little Charles D. Tyler, Jr., was ring bearer. The bride wore a white Canton crepe with pearl trimmings and the veil which her mother wore at her wedding, arranged with a train and caught at the back of the collar with a semi-circle of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and sweet peas. Miss Winslow was gowned in pink chiffon over silver and carried a bouquet of Columbia roses and ferns. After the ceremony a wedding supper was served at the home of the bride's mother. Fine

Holiday Traffic Is Very Heavy

The annual over-the-Fourth holiday rush is now on and today the Hudson River Day Line required two of its steamers to handle the traffic.
One of the steamers only ran as far north as Kingston Point and then returned to New York. The Ulster & Delaware railroad is meeting the holiday rush with special trains whenever it proved necessary. Traffic this year by boat and train is said to be somewhat heavier than last year at this time.

Santa Barbara Gets Fourth Shock

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Santa Barbara, Cal., July 3.—A fourth quake has rocked the city.

Streets are now filled with terror stricken residents. All persons have moved away from buildings and houses. Many are fleeing from the city.

No reports have been received of anyone having been injured in the second quake.

Fire Breaks Out.

Fire has broken out in Santa Barbara. Fire equipment is being rushed into the residential districts in the northeast sections of the city. Clouds of smoke can be seen from the center of the wrecked business district.

Wild Geese Abandon Old Flying Formation

White Salmon in the state of Washington reports a curious occurrence.
The wild geese flying toward their nesting grounds abandoned the time-honored "V" formation and took to the crescent.

What can account for so basic a change in goose technology? The New York Sun asks. Mere accident seems an insufficient explanation. It is more logical to consider the matter from the standpoint of cause and effect.

The fact is that the modern goose
has been afforded unusual opportunities for observing formations. He sees football teams in action, observes the deploying lines of young men at citizen training camp drill. He cannot help noticing the formations of boy scouts and camp fire girls. The air service brings a variety of patterns to his attention in the air itself. Then every goose has memories or has heard traditions or rumors of European war activities—the salient, the enveloping movement, the varied and wonderful course of the zero hour attack.

It is a scientific age. Is even the goose affected? Perhaps he has adopted the empiric method and is experimenting with formations to see if, after all, the earth may not be able to teach him something about the air!

and white roses decorated the tables
with rose-colored tapers in silver sticks for light. Following the supper
Mr. and Mrs. Wright left for a motor trip to include points in the east. They will make their home in Canajoharie. Out-of-town guests included the groom's parents, the best man and Miss Mary Almir Wright.

IN NIGERIA

Palace of an Emir in Nigeria.

(Prepared by the National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.) Nigeria, one of the principal countries visited by the prince of Wales on his recent African trip, is Great Britain's most valuable west coast possession, outranking both Sierra Leone and the Gold Coast colony in area and importance.

It is the innermost of the group of countries, beginning with Liberia, that cling like huge bats under the great overhanging "eave" of Africa. Nigeria straddles the Niger river and its chief tributary, the Benue, and extends from within 300 miles of the equator in the south to French territory in the north.
The country is very roughly square,
and both north and south, and east and west has an extent of between 600 and 700 miles. Its area is nearly 850,000 square miles, considerably greater than that of Texas and Oklahoma together. At its northeast corner, Nigeria touches the extensive salt marshes of Lake Chad, Africa's greatest center of inland drainage. This is the region upon which France, Great Britain and Germany all had their eyes before the World war, and marked a point where the territories of the three great powers came into contact.
Since the war the German territory,
the Cameroons, has been divided between Great Britain and France as mandates.

Along its southern shore Nigeria has many of the disadvantages of most African tropical countries, from the point of view of the white man. This is especially true of the fully one-third of the 600-mile coastline which is occupied by the sprawling delta of the Niger. That stream, one of the four great rivers of Africa, breaks into the gulf of Guinea through a maze of almost countless passages, varying from channels of reasonable size to tiny creeks and bays. Between the waterways are vast mangrove swamps.
This seems a hopeless region for the white man, but at Forcado toward the western edge of the delta, and more recently at Port Harcourt, near its extreme tip, the British have drained and filled and made over sites
on which they have established reasonably healthy and prosperous ports.

Lagos an Important City.

It is near the southwestern corner
of Nigeria, however, well to the west of the Niger delta, that Nigeria's most important port is situated. This is Lagos, the most English port on the west coast of Africa, and, in climate and conveniences, one of the most comfortable. It boasts a good hotel, electric lights, a modern water works and numerous brick houses. About 500 Europeans and 50,000 Africans live in the town.

One of the distinguishing features of Lagos is that it is one of the very few coast towns of tropical west Africa where horses can live. Horses are not depended upon to any great extent for transportation, however, but are used in the polo matches that help to make residence in Lagos more bearable for the few European inhabitants.
For transportation chief dependence is placed on the rickshaws drawn by two black "boys."

The Niger river is navigable for about 300 miles and its river steamers are used for much of the freight that goes in and out of Nigeria. But Lagos, far from the river, is the great Nigerian gateway. It is the coastal terminus of the railway that extends northeast almost to the northern border of the country. Over this railway move most of the passengers and much of the more valuable freight.
Its services in developing and modernizing the country can hardly be exaggerated.

The railway from Lagos cuts an interesting cross-section of Nigeria.
After the forested coastal lowlands are left behind the traveler encounters a country alternating between forests and parkland. This is a thickly populated region where it is believed cotton can be grown to advantage. Two hundred and fifty miles from the coast
the railroad cuts across the Niger river, and then climbs to a highland plateau, parts of which are sparsely populated.

Toward the end of the run, however, the line enters a prairie country
of superlatively rich black soil, densely peopled with prosperous agricultural and stock raising tribes. Kano,
the railroad, the center of this region,
has been called "the Chicago of the Central Sudan." It is ruled over, under British control, by the emir of Kano, whose subjects number 2,000,000.

Kano is a mushroom railroad town.
It was a famous inland center in medieval times, as it is today, for weaving, embroidery and ornamental leather work. One of the greatest of African markets is held there. About 60,000 people now live in the city, but in the course of the year some 2,000, 600 pass through to visit the market

where salt, cattle, horses, cotton, cloth, feathers and European goods change hands. All of upland Nigeria is free from the tsetse fly and, like huge sections of French Sudan, is an ideal region for stock raising.

Kaduna, in the upland country, on the railway between Kano and the Niger, has been the capital of Nigeria since 1916. Northern and Southern Nigeria, until then separate, were merged, and the new administrative center was selected for greater convenience. It was built out of land in a region chosen for its healthful surroundings, dry air, and good water supply.

A Separate Railway from the coast at Port Harcourt, near the eastern edge of the Niger delta, runs 150 miles in- land to one of Nigeria's greatest stores of wealth, the coal mines of Udi. The Udi coal, while not so good as the best mined in the British Isles, is well above the world's average in quality and adds greatly to Nigeria's im- portance. During the World war these mines supplied the entire west coast of Africa with fuel.

Nigeria is a medley of races, and is said to be richer in tribes than any similar area of the Dark Continent.
Off the beaten track one encounters strange peoples and stranger customs.
In the remote part of northwestern
Nigeria is a tribe whose women wear tails and are proud of them. They are not of flesh and blood, but they are made sufficiently realistic. They play an important part in the social life of the people, for they are the outward
and visible sign of matronly dignity.
When a woman of the Kago, Kaji,
or of four other neighboring tribes—the Atakka, Morva, Katob, or the Jaba—becomes a bride, she puts off forever the simple girlish of twisted grass that, up to that moment, had been her sole adornment, and assumes the apron of leaves and the tremendously significant tall, or kunnok, as it is called.

Customs of the Ekoi.
In southeastern Nigeria, in the dense forests, dwell the Ekoi. They are devoted parents, but it will take years of patient teaching before they grasp the importance of fresh air and the simplest measures for the health of their little ones.

They have curious beliefs as to the advent and death of their babies. One charming superstition forbids all quarreling in a house where there are little children. The latter, so they say, love sweet words, kind looks and gentle voices, and if these are not to be found in the family late which they have reincarnated, they will close their eyes and forsake the earth till a chance offers to return again amid less quarrelsome surroundings.

At the new year, and on all great festivals, the chief "societies" of men, women, and children come up to the stations to give a series of dances.
These people have a marvellous sense
of rhythm, even the little children.
Nothing could be more graceful than the waving arms and swaying limbs
of the little brown forms as they bend
and move, always in perfect time to their songs. Missionaries and officials who have lived among the Ekoi assert that they have never heard a false note nor found a dancer or accompanist one fraction of a second out of time.

The Ekoi are a polygamous people,
but the chief wife, not the husband, is the head of the house. Each wife has control over her children, who almost invariably go with her if she leaves her husband, and her rights as to property are most strictly safeguarded
by native law.

Compliment Retreated

Mrs. Bustle was entertaining her friend, Mrs. Rustle, at tea. The ladies chatted on many subjects while Mrs.
Bustle's daughter, little five-year-old Florence, listened attentively to all that was said.

"Oh, Mrs. Rustle," said the bottom,
after a while, "when you called last week it was the first time that little Florence had seen you, and after you had gone she said: 'Isn't she a pretty lady?'"

Mrs. Rustle, who was well pleased, blushed and said nothing.

Then up piped little Florence, anxious to vindicate herself.

"But, mother," she exclaimed, "I hadn't seen her close by!"

Good Tobacco Smoke

Smoke from good tobacco appears blue because of its infinitely small particles of light of that color, according to scientists. The smoke, in reality, is a dark brown, the blue being merely the reflection of the light waves.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Financial and Commercial

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, July 3.—Moderate reactions in stock prices today were the result of week-end opening up of speculative accounts over the double holiday, profit taking following the recent rapid advance in industrial and railroad stocks, a small amount of forced selling following the suspension of a prominent stock exchange house and the usual professional short selling, of which the volume was comparatively small.

From the market's technical standpoint, the most important development was the decline in call money rates to 4 per cent, as compared with the 6 per cent rate earlier in the week. The banks have already felt the effect of the redepositing of the dividend disbursements.

Stocks rallied at the opening and a number of good advances were made up to the noon period, when selling pressure again became more pronounced. The market was irregular rather than weak, while the oil, industrial and copper stocks were declining, the steel, motor and specialty stocks continued to advance.
Stocks sold "under the rule" as a result of the Dean Onatavia failure found ready buyers at slight concessions in prices and no general distress resulted from the suspension of the firm. Attorneys for the firm stated that all of the indebtedness
was covered by the deposit of valuable collateral, though slow.

The forward movement of the independent steel stocks was as pronounced as any other group. Sloss Sheffield was up nearly three points
at 91 1/2; Gulf States Steel gained 2
Vanadium Steel up to 31 1/2 for a gain of 1 1/2 points; Crucible, Republic and Bethlehem were fractionally higher.

Owens Bottle, continental Can and a few other industrials were able to move upward.

Railroad stocks were again inactive, but prices of representative
stocks were slightly higher; Wabash Common advanced to a new high at 23 on buying attributed to the Loeve
and Delaware and Hudson interests.

A sharp recovery in French and Italian exchange and further weakness in cotton futures were the principal features of the outside markets;
the grain markets were steady and investment markets also firm.

Britain Resumes Naval Building

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Portsmouth, England, July 3.—The British government has returned to the naval program of 1923, which provided for the building of twenty ships. This is the scheme that was so drastically reduced by the Labor Government, and its chief feature will be the construction of five first-class cruisers, at a cost of more than $20,000,000.
Naval dockyards are already preparing to get busy on the cruisers, which will be of 10,000 tons, carrying eight-inch guns, and, with the two similar Australian cruisers now on the stocks, Britain will have seven up-to-date cruisers under construction.
Secretary of the Navy Amery aims at a program of fifty-two cruisers before 1935 as the minimum of safety. This will entail an annual wages bill of about $20,000,000 and, one way and another, will give employment to about 75,000 workers.
Government dockyards at present are crying out for work, and advocates of this program say that it will be better business for the government to pay for these ships than to spend money on unemployment relief.

Selkirk Freight Yards Completed

New York Central's New Freight Yards at Selkirk Ready For Use Tomorrow—Largest Yards in Eastern Part of Country.
By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Albany, July 3.—The New York Central's West Albany railroad yard, one of the largest of its kind in this part of the country, virtually will pass out of existence tomorrow. The Central's new freight yards at Selkirk, a few miles to the southwest of this city, will be ready for use tomorrow, rail officials announced today.
All freight trains will be run over the new $20,000,000 bridge across the Hudson river at Castleton and thence to the Selkirk yards. From the Selkirk yards the freight trains will continue west striking the Central's main tracks near Schenectady.
Constructing the Castleton bridge and building the new freight yards at Selkirk has been one of the biggest and most important tasks the Central has undertaken in New York state in years.
All passenger trains from New York will come to Albany as usual and thence on through the West Albany yards to the west.
The running time of freight trains from the western part of the state to New York city will be reduced by several hours through the Castleton cut-off, as it is called by the rail officials.
The Selkirk yards are the largest in the eastern part of the country. Scores of farms were purchased by the Central in making the freight terminal.
The steepest grade on the New York Central tracks in the state is between the Union Station, this city, and the West Albany yards. It always has been necessary to have what is known as a "pusher"—an additional engine—help the freight trains up this grade. This was largely responsible for the construction of the bridge across the Hudson at Castleton and the new yards at Selkirk.
It is expected the score of shop buildings at the West Albany yards will, in time, be demolished. Industrial plants may take their places.

DR. LEAVITT REPORTS ON JUDEA CONVENTION.

Thursday night in the presence of a large gathering of the members of the Young Judea Club, Dr. Ezekiel Leavitt, the Kingston delegate to the national convention of the Y. J. O. at Belmar, N. J., gave a luminous and inspiring report dwelling on all the phases of the convention. Dr. Leavitt brought out the most salient points of the convention and before the eyes of the audience appeared a vivid picture of all that was accomplished there.
"Let our Jewish spirit of yore be blended with the true American spirit," said Dr. Leavitt, "and this combination will form an elixir vitae, an essence of life which will add vigor, courage and ambition to every individual of our race. The real American spirit, the spirit of the master builders of this glorious country, is based on the Hebrew lore and tradition, and to me nothing higher exists than real Americanism plus traditional Judaism."
"I wish I were in a position to bring along with me from the convention one spark of the fire of enthusiasm which at intervals filled the hearts of the delegates. I am sure that such a spark has the power of Prometheus's fire, namely, to instill in you the spirit of unselfishness, the spirit of self sacrifice, the spirit which governs the hearts and minds of the noblest souls."
Dr. Leavitt spoke for an hour. The audience was thrilled and at the conclusion of his interesting report gave him a rising vote of thanks.
PARIS FAVORS WHITE AT BRILLIANT EVENING GATHERINGS:
Chiffon, chiffon and more chiffon is the burden of any song to be sung about evening fashions in Paris. Embroidered crepe dresses, brocade or lame gowns, lace or net frocks probably total, when combined, the number of chiffon frocks one sees at the same places.
Chiffons stood out as the predominant note at the inauguration of the French-Italian-American Opera Company, to an audience composed of many Parisiennes and many of the smart foreign colonies in the
